Susan Winter Ward, internationally recognized yoga instructor, author, and video producer, is the creator of "Yoga for the Young at Heart™" began practicing yoga in 1990 at White Lotus Foundation in Santa Barbara, CA. She was led to yoga seeking relief from 10 years of back pain and was so impressed with the results that within 2 years she became a teacher so she could share the blessings of yoga. Teaching mostly seniors and beginners, Susan has developed a gentle and encouraging teaching style based on the vinyasa style White Lotus Flow Series and is now certifying with John Friend's heart-centered Anusara Yoga. Anusara Yoga's principles of alignment and the concept of honoring the body's innate intelligence are an integral foundation for Susan's teaching.

JOIN THE DLS! (Dog Lovers' Society)

Sick of politics? Can't find the right answer for anything?

Here's an organization you can join! No dues, no meetings!

All you have to do is love your dog. If that is not a unifying power, I do not know what is. Maybe that common allegiance toward man's and woman's best friend can contribute to ending hostility over everything else?

- ◆ There are supposed to be about 39,000,000 pet dogs in the U.S.
- ◆ There are a few more cats but we won't worry about them right now.
- ◆ About two-thirds of all American households have at least one dog.
- ◆ Many have two or three, others have too many.

As a fairly new dog-owner, I am surprised how diligent owners are about picking up the poop. In our neighborhood, about 90% seem to comply with the law. Such a regulation probably originated in New York

City or Paris where dog-walkers were rampant and careless.

For one thing, dogs are truthful. They will not lie to you. If they are hungry or wish to go out, they will tell you. And they are grateful when you respond to their needs. When you arrive home from a bad day at the office, they can whisk away the black cloud you brought in and tell you how glad they are to see you. Even spouses don't always do that.

The Society already has almost 30,000,000 members. Some people have dogs they don't really like but just put up with them. Those folks are not welcome in the DLS! Next time you talk to a Dog Lover, tell them about DLS. Remind them that if people could love other people as much as they do their dog, the world would be at peace and the police could work a 20-hour week.

Dogs are essentially lazy but will rise to an occasion, like when you are willing to rub their tummies. Or throw Frisbees in the park. They exude joy and affection using that emotional tail to signal that you are doing a good job. Signal back, don't wag your tail, just tell them in any language that you love them. Thank you for joining the Society.

Fashioning Art: Handbags by Judith Leiber

Judith Leiber (born in Hungary 1921- ) is one of the grand dames of couture handbag design. During a career spanning over 30 years, she has created more than 3,000 different motifs and has become world famous.

Fashioning Art: Handbags by Judith Leiber presents more than 150 bags in a retrospective survey of her designs from 1964 (including the first beaded bag created in 1967), through her retirement in 1998. Leiber's works transcend utility to become objets d'art. Her bags are inspired by a variety of sources, including Asian culture, nature, Hollywood and museum objects. Artists such as Henri Matisse, Georges Braque, Gustav Klimt and Charles Rennie Mackintosh and periods of art such as Art Deco or Pop Art are represented.

Contributing tremendously to the style and sophistication of the well-dressed American woman, Judith Leiber bags have graced the arms of First Ladies, including Nancy Reagan, Barbara Bush, Hillary Rodham Clinton and most recently, Laura Bush. Leiber is one of an elite group of designers—Lalique, Tiffany and Cartier among them—who created high quality products for public consumption that have come to be regarded as art. Fashioning Art: Handbags by Judith Leiber has been organized by the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C. The Boca Raton Museum of Art is pleased to announce Glitz and Glamour in the Galleries: Fashioning Art: Handbags by Judith Leiber will be on display October 19 – December 31, 2005.

Cars Galore

Although those who are age 50-plus only make up 39 percent of the U.S. adult population, in 2005, they will account for half of all auto sales, according to Art Spinella, president of consultancy firm CNW Marketing Research. By 2010, the 50-plus group will be buying 53 percent of all cars.
